Have you ever wondered if you have done everything to be happy?

We all seek to be happy and we know that to be happy we have to do things right. And we know in the depths of our hearts (even if we want to deceive ourselves) that happiness cannot be bought by money or the pleasures of this world. Happiness must be conquered, one must seek it and be deserving to obtain it, one must comply with the commandments.

If we want to eat a rich and healthy meal, we are not going to look for it in a dunghill. In the same way, we do not seek happiness in greed, vanity, arrogance, or fleeting pleasures because happiness is not there. We need to convince ourselves that we will not find happiness without God and without doing things well.

Happiness is a gift from God, it is being with God, it is fullness, it is fulfillment, it is experiencing the gift of freedom. We are free when our hearts are not attached to anything, when we do not need beer or alcohol to be happy, when we experience the joy of giving without expecting a reward, when we give everything we have to achieve eternal life.

What are the commandments? God's commandments help us to do things well, to be within the alliance with God, to be free, to find happiness. The commandments are not chains or straitjackets, the commandments are a gift from God.

Some years ago I found this inscription that I want to share with you.

In the Cathedral of Lübeck, Germany, there is the following inscription:

You call me Master and you don't obey me.
You call me Light and you don't see me.
You call me Path and you don't walk me.
You call me Life and you don't want me.
You call me Wise, and you don't follow me.
You call me Good, and you don't love me.
You call me Rich, and you don't ask me.
You call me Eternal, and you are not looking for me.
You call me Noble, and do not serve me.
You call me Compassionate, and you don't trust me.
You call me Powerful, and do not honor me.
You call me Just, and you do not fear me.
If you are damned, don't blame me.

Brothers and Sisters, if you are unhappy, whose fault is it?
